

Dear Principal, Science Subject Teachers and General Education Subject Teachers,

The Jane Goodall Institute Hong Kong (JGIHK) is a registered charity in Hong Kong, which was been founded by Dr Jane Goodall, an internationally well-known primatologist and United National Messenger of Peace, in 2002. JGIHK aims to nurture local youth to be the sustainable leaders through organizing various environmental education programs and activities. Our partners not only include the district councils of Hong Kong, primary and secondary schools and higher education institutions, but also community organizations and corporates.

JGIHK is launching the “Roots and Shoots (R&S) Green School Network” in the new academic year of 2018/19. We sincerely invite your school to take part in and register for the R&S Green School Network, in order to receive the latest information about green education programs and obtain higher priority to join our programs. For registration, you only need to complete the following enrollment form and return the form to us via email or WhatsApp on or before 10th Sep 2018. We will send a confirmation email with your school’s member reference number to the school contact person within 3 working days upon receiving your registration.

R&S Green School Network

- Free registration fee
- Members have higher priority to register for and join the JGIHK green education programs.
- Members will receive the latest green information via email.

If you register for the membership on or before 10th Sep 2018, you will get

- A one-year school membership of Plastic Ocean Education Lab and a FREE movie screening of “A Plastic Ocean” and debriefing workshop led by JGIHK’s education officer.
